

Community Resource Guide 2024-2025

PURPOSE

This resource directory was compiled as an aid to our Katy ISD students, parents and community members in locating local resources. Inclusion in this directory does not constitute an endorsement or recommendation of services by district. Katy ISD spans three counties, Harris, Fort Bend and Waller so please be advised that some services are specific to the county of residence.

This directory includes the most commonly used nonprofit, private, local, state and government resources available and is not intended to be complete. Directory information is rapidly changing and can become outdated. If you find any errors or have information on new resources for consideration, please feel free to contact us.

MENTAL HEALTH RESOURCES

Mental Health support is a very personal decision for every person/child/adult/family. One of the most important aspects of choosing a mental health provider is the relationship between the client and provider. Therapy and counseling are most effective whenever the client and therapist have a good connection therefore it is a challenge for recommendations from outside people. Katy ISD cannot endorse or recommend any one provider over another; however, we want to provide our students and families with the tools and resources to choose the best professional to meet your needs.

The section below provides some education and information on the types of mental health professionals and options for different treatment. Students and parents are always encouraged to reach out to their campus professionals such as our school counselors, licensed social workers and Licensed Specialists in School Psychology (LSSP) for additional information and clarification.

Types of Mental Health Professionals

In order to best match your services, you need to choose the right professional for the services you are seeking. It is important to remember that people must hold degrees and licensure in these areas in order to identify as the profession. Below is a list of common mental health professionals and their background, education and training.

- Clinical Social Workers (LCSW): Clinical social workers are trained to evaluate a person's mental health, provide psychotherapy and use therapeutic techniques based on specific training programs. They are also trained in case management and advocacy services. Clinical Social Workers are licensed by licensure boards in each state.
- Counselors, Clinicians, Therapists: These masters-level health care professionals are trained to evaluate a person's mental health and use therapeutic techniques based on specific training programs. Licensures include Licensed Professional Counselor (LPC), Licensed Clinical Social Workers (LCSW), Licensed Marriage and Family Therapist (LMFT), Licensed Chemical Dependency Counselor (LCDC).
- Psychiatrists: Psychiatrists are licensed medical doctors who have completed psychiatric training. They can diagnose mental health conditions, prescribe and monitor medications and may provide therapy. Psychiatrists are licensed physicians in the state where they are practicing and may also be a Board-Certified Psychiatrist by the Board of Neurology and Psychiatry.
- Psychologists: Psychologists hold an advanced degree in psychology or another specialty such as counseling or education. Some have graduate degrees while others hold a doctoral degree in clinical psychology. They are trained to evaluate a person's mental health using clinical interviews, psychological evaluations and testing. Psychologists are licensed by licensure boards in each state.

Asking Providers Questions about their Mental Health Services

Individuals may want to ask questions and do research prior to scheduling an appointment with a mental health provider. Many providers will have individual websites or profiles on different platforms for mental health. Consider some of the questions below:

- Credentials, licensure in good standing with the state, years of experience/practice in the mental health field.
- Approach to mental health, expertise, specialized training certifications
- Willing to coordinate care with other doctors or providers
- In person services or telehealth/virtual services
- Cost of service
 - Cost of initial/intake session versus individual sessions
 - Do they accept insurance? Will they provide a letter for reimbursement to your insurance provider? Co-payment cost?
 - Do they accept cash, check, credit cards, PayPal, Venmo, etc.

Payment Options for Mental Health/Behavioral Health Services

Insurance

- If you are employed, mental health treatment may be covered by your provider. Call the number on the back of your medical insurance card to see if mental health treatment is covered.

Self-pay/Private Pay

- Some mental health providers do not accept insurance plans and therefore are self-pay providers. A fixed rate for treatment will need to be paid out of pocket.

Sliding Scale Fee

- Some providers may offer a sliding scale fee for those in need. The fee for services is adjusted depending on an individual's income. The higher your income, the more you pay, the lower your income, the less you will pay.

Medicaid/CHIP

Medicaid and the Children's Health Insurance Program (CHIP) provide health coverage for qualifying children, families, seniors and people with disabilities based on income and need. While Medicaid is a federal program, there is state control on criteria. Some people may be eligible in one state and not in another.

- To apply for Medicaid: www.yourtexasbenefits.com

Medicare

Medicare is a health coverage plan run by the federal government. Medicare operates more like traditionally funded health insurance than Medicaid. Unlike Medicaid, Medicare is a federal program (without state differences) and is geared toward people based on age or disability status and not income.
